U. S. TO BLAME FOR VIOLENCE

May Not be Held for Behavior of Rebels, but Lifting Embargo on Arms Has Led to Intolerable Excess, Journals Assert. Patience Wearing.

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, March 4.—The Mexican situation and Sir Edward Grey's pronouncement in regard to the Benton investigation are the subjects of comment in today's newspapers.

The U. S. Mail (Dudley) says: "The temperate and restrained language in which Sir Edward Grey referred to the Mexican incident will have the approval of all Englishmen. Its moderation, however, will not diminish the depth of their feelings, either in making every concession to Sir Edward's difficulties but of those in danger of that patience being exceeded if it would interfere with an element of grave disquietude in international politics, they rest for moral and international right requires of the United States the punishment of Benton's murderers. At the present moment, justice is bound and Great Britain is neutral. The application of the Monroe doctrine is paralyzed and dead."

The Times says: "Sir Edward Grey's efforts to emphasize the gravity of recent events and very little to reduce the desolation which those events have wrought. The public opinion of this country, however, sympathetic.

It will make considerations for the advancement of President Wilson an adequate excuse for iniquities in some districts as those of Pancho Villa, or the approval of Carranza. If President Wilson cannot be held responsible for the behavior of the latter, his policy is directly responsible for the state of things which has led to intolerable excess."

What the United States has done in not only to allow civil war to persist, but to encourage it by allowing arms and ammunition to be supplied to the belligerents. The United States is bound to exert its exclusive influence when it comes to putting an end to this. It may have become a danger not only to the United States but to the world at large.

The Westminster Gazette and the London Standard agree with the U. S. Mail.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 4.—The surprise of yesterday's city election was the great majority, 14,000, by which Hiram C. Gill was chosen mayor. He carried every ward but one and got big majorities in residential precincts where he had been always defeated before. The only charter amendment won that fixing a minimum wage of $2.75 for all city employees.

Robert C. Hesketh, president of the city council and vice-president of the International Cooks' and Waiters Union, was re-elected, receiving even more votes than Gill.

DUQUESNE LIMITED IS FIRST THROUGH TRAIN FROM N. Y.

Five Reachers Here Three Hours
Late, but Make the Entire Distance; Mail Congested.

The Duquesne Limited, which arrived here at 10:40 this morning, three hours late, was the first through train from New York in the past two days. With the storm of Sunday service was interrupted in the East and trains were made up in Baltimore to come west over the Baltimore & Ohio.

Last night the Duquesne Limited left New York and got through without a hitch. Fast time between New York and Philadelphia was out of the question, and the train fell behind schedule in that section.

It is expected that normal conditions will be restored not later than today. The mail service is swamped as a result of the tassel. Much New York mail has been held up because trains were not run on schedule and it will be days before the mass of accumulated matter has been dispatched.

There has also been an accumulation of freight and express matter at all the terminals that will take several days for delivery.

DENOUNCES ELLIS

Prosecutor Bitterly Assails Cincinnati
Man on Trial for Wife Murder.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 4.—"A villainous and callous fellow who killed his wife and made his children motherless and then attempted to blacken her character to save his wretched life." As Prosecutor Muleto uttered these words of denunciation of William C. Ellis of Cincinnati, in his opening argument to the jury, Ellis, on trial for the murder of his wife, sat in his chair and had his hands clasped.

"Look," exclaimed Muleto. "Ellis gets a glass of water and has someone to lift him up, but he gives his wife no water after he has shot four bullets into her body. If he receives a death penalty at your hands he will have a chance to make his peace with God. He gave her none."

According to the evidence, Stoner went to the vicinity of York avenue and Fayette street under orders of Chief of Police George Hetzel and shot the dogs he found running at large. One of them was Draper's black and white bulldog. Draper claims the policeman exceeded his authority.

Squire Bixler then the borough clerk of Connellsville, produced the ordinance books. One ordinance passed in 1851 gave the police authority to kill dogs. A later one, passed May 1, 1890, prohibits that dogs running at large and unimpaired after a quarantine had been declared, are to be impounded. Draper claims Stoner should have locked the dog instead of shooting it.

When the defense began its evidence, James Constantine and Miss O'Donnell gave the dead dog a bad name, each testifying to have been bitten by the animal. Other testimony was offered to prove that the dog was a menace to the community and that Stoner, in killing it, had performed a service in putting it out of the way.

Judge Van Swearingen yesterday instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff in the suit in which C. H. Cloud of Masontown sought a recovery of $500 for damages to his automobile. On Saturday night, he had gone to his wife and children to go on a short business trip.

The next day, Mrs. Lindman, was also missing, and it was said that they had gone away together. It is believed that they have gone east, where Kinsella may seek employment in the coal mines.

The alleged elopement caused a sensation in the little town. Kinsella was a florist there and was held in high esteem. On Sunday night, he said goodbye to his wife and children and went to his wife and children to go on a short business trip.

UNIONTOWN, March 4.—Judson J. Draper was awarded a verdict of $77.25 against William F. Stoner, former policeman for Connellsville borough, when the jury deliberated the case this afternoon. Draper asked $300 damages because Stoner shot the dog, claiming it worth that much to train a dog, even if the animal did not have a pedigree. Stoner killed the dog when he found it running at large without a muzzle during a dog quarantine.

According to the evidence, Stoner went to the vicinity of York avenue and Fayette street under orders of Chief of Police George Hetzel and shot the dogs he found running at large. One of them was Draper's black and white bulldog. Draper claims the policeman exceeded his authority.

A STATE IN WEALTH.

Valuation of Allegheny County Out-ranks Many Commonwealths.

In connection with the sale of $1,15,000,000 Allegheny county, 14% bonds last week in Pittsburgh, it is interesting to note that the assessed valuation of the county is greater than that of 36 of the states and territories of the United States and is one-fifth of the valuation of the State of Pennsylvania.

If Allegheny county were a state its assessed valuation would make it rank thirteenth among the United States.

COMB SAGE TEA
INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn grey streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, removes every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 60 cents a bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wavy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness.

By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, it is the surest, quickest and most effective remedy in the whole world and besides it is harmless.

AUTO BONNET AND MOURNING HAT.

A smart mourning hat and an automobile bonnet appear in today's drawing. The former close-fitting net, is softened and made youthful by a deep upstanding pleating of muslin in graduated width which is placed about the crown. The brim is ornamented by a design of dull jet beads. The coquettish motor bonnet was fashioned from heliotrope chip with bowl crown and narrow brim slightly peaked at the front. Overhanging the brim is a band of self-tone silk covering the crown and the full lace gathered at each side beneath a novelty butterfly woven on fine wires.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 4, 1914.

AN ANTI-CROW PARTY.

The Washington party of Fayette county, in utter defiance of Washington party principles, which forbid conventions and other caucuses, met in "conference" at Uniontown yesterday and nominated a complete county ticket, not with the view to advancing any live political issue or promoting any great political reform, but with the avowed purpose of defeating Senator William Evans Crow for reelection.

The attendance at the gathering is reported on the authority of the Washington party organ, at about 60. This does not, of course, represent the entire Washington party strength in the county. No doubt many of the best and boldest Bull Moose were kept at home by the severe weather and lack of car fare due to the wise administration of the Democratic residuary legatees. It is only fair to state that the Washington party vote this fall will probably rise above the figures given.

By its own confession there is no excuse for the Washington party of Fayette county save an eager and grasping desire to defeat the probable Republican candidate for State Senator, and that is not a good excuse. Senator Crow has attained to high popularity in his own party by reason of his brains and his energy. He is Chairman of the Republican State Committee. He is regarded as being too close to Pennington. He is marked for defeat. Thus demands his head.

The people of Fayette county, regardless of party, are proud of "Bill" Crow. They do not all confess it, because it is not good policy to do so, but down in their hearts, man-to-man, they admire the character and attainments of the Fayette county lad who has won his way from the bottom rung in the ladder without anybody to boost him. What they esteem about him more is that his political promises and agreements are always kept to the letter so far as his ability to make them good extends. Senator Crow's friends do not all agree with the political principles he represents, but his courage and honesty in politics command their respect. They like the man.

If the Washington party effort is directed against Senator Crow, it is likely to come to an inglorious ending.

PHYSICALLY DEFECTIVE PUPILS.

The report of the medical examination of the pupils of the Connellsville schools is complete at last and its results are rather startling. They would seem to indicate that the personnel of the public school system would have to advance a step further and set up a special department for the treatment of pupils.

The public schools were founded upon the patriotic principle that it is the duty of the state to train up good citizens. It is well established that good minds are better nourished by good bodies. Many of the school children who are reported physically defective will not have their defects remedied because their parents are too poor or too indifferent to procure medical attention.

Thus the object of the examination is lost, and one of the prime purposes of the public school system is evaded.

The pickpockets who were disengaged entirely by a Connellsville police force for lack of evidence, have been sent up for the same offense. Allegheny County Pittsburg authorities do not suffer from ingraining criminality.

The departments at Urvana are dangerous for both the passengers and the drivers of the town.

The organization of a volunteer fire company in the village has been organized to the hands of a modern David.

Johnston, Peter Adolphus Johnson, a chemist, is making a speech at the Mount Pleasant Journal, saying among other things that the people are doing their duty, county administrators tell the chairman refer to law.

An array of accomplishments are now in sight of various considerations. They are either the work of clever inventors and neither class deserves much consideration.

The collection of the Palmer and McMurtry, aiding by the Connellsville Democrats, aided by the attendance of the Pittsburg editor, is not overwhelming.

At this season of the year the naked truth is a cold profession.

The amateur Johnstonian bank robbers got away with everything but the poolside dog. It got away with them.

The storm in this vicinity was a general seiche compared with the winter east of the mountains. Even the Forks of the Ohio doze Old Boreas now and then.

The coal interests seem to be working for a strike.

The Connellsville school children will be surprised the barren satisfaction of wiping on paper towels.

It cost a Scotland man $50 to impress the virtue of a woman. His exertions should be a warning to certain men. One may think what it costs, but there are times when it pays at his own risk.

Fourteen hundred dollars for a turkey is a little enough.

The Urvana Herald in "reviewing" the coke trade makes the joyful statement that "as many as 20 ovens in this locality have been blown in within the past few days." Good; blow it along!

News of the Past Condensed from the Files of The Courier.

FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1914.

Connellsville coke operators have formed a pool. A number of the smaller operators met here and accepted the offer of the Coke Syndicate composed of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, McClure & Co., J. M. Schoonmaker and the Connellsville Coke & Iron Company, otherwise known as the Leisenring interest. The syndicate will take the coke of the smaller producers and market it on a sliding scale of commissions. The papers were signed by the representatives of 1,165 ovens. It is expected that this will be swelled to 1,421 ovens. W. J. Riney, James Cochran and J. W. Moore, who own 995 ovens in the aggregate, decline to enter the pool of the 9,920 ovens in the Connellsville region proper, the syndicate owns and controls 3,474, as follows: Frick 2,744; McClure, 1,149; Schoonmaker, 786; and Leisenring, 764.

Coke trade is dull, but there is hope of improvement in the near future, this due to the fact that the preliminary introduction to the working of the pool will not be completed for a month. The output has declined somewhat, idle ovens numbering 977 against 750 two weeks ago.

Many of the smaller operators are running on short time. The price of coke running at $1.00 per ton.

J. A. Stricker will be car manager of the new coke syndicate, with an office at Everson, where he will assign cars.

A petition was filed in court contesting the borough election. It is charged that fraudulent votes were cast. It is allowed that a recount of the vote will elect R. Marietta and Jacob Brickman, Democrats, over L. T. Russell and J. M. Townsend, Republicans, for council.

Among the properties sold by Sheriff Sterling during the week was the Pennsville coke works of George A. Tintman, to A. H. Sherrick, for $15,000.

S. L. Mestrezat is appointed by the court to defend the Pole named Mattoche, who shot a Hungarian companion named Tobinski, at Latte last December.

Some parties hunting for oil in Mount Pleasant township, Washington county, ran through a 15-foot coal vein, at a depth of 300 feet.

The little town of Livermore on the borders of Indiana and Westmoreland counties, imbued with the spirit of progress, elected a woman constable at the recent election.

A. C. Knob of this place, entered suit against the Southwest Railroad Company for injuries sustained by his wife and family in the wreck at Lemont, October 13, 1883. He asks $6,000 damages.

FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1914.

Detailed report of the coke trade for the week ending Saturday, February 24, shows a total of 17,513 ovens, of which 10,098 are active and 7,414 are idle, with an estimated production of 98,753 tons.

Shipments for the week aggregated 8,567 cars, consigned as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipple, 1,923 cars; to points east of Pittsburgh, 2,228 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 1,331 cars. This was a net increase of 409 cars over the shipments of the previous week.

Fractional coke is selling at $1.00, family coke at $1.15 and crushed coke at $1.40 per ton.

Coke production of the region is steadily increasing. The gain since January 1 has been 20,500 tons, and of this more than 15,000 tons have been gained since February 1. Last week 200 ovens were added to the active list.

William C. Mullan, formerly superintendent of the Frick plants at Morgan, Foundry, Eagle and White, is now connected with the purchasing office of the Union Supply Company.

New pit stables completed by the Frick Company at Trotter, Leisenring, No. 2 and Standard. The mules and horses heretofore will not be hoisted from the mines the year round except when taken sick.

W. J. Riney contemplates the erection of a large coke crusher at the Mount Bradlock plant. For domestic purposes crushed coke is becoming an important fuel.

The Frick Company at Trotter, Leisenring, No. 2 and Standard, the mules and horses heretofore will not be hoisted from the mines the year round except when taken sick.

A greater Connellsville movement has started. The extensions in view include the annexation of the north and south sides of town and Hungry Hook, just beyond the borough line on the Pinnacles. An increase of 2,000 in population would result. The electric railway company is said to be backing the movement.

Engineer H. M. Keppert has political aspirations. If he can only get a pull on the bosses like he can on a freight train with the 1865 he will land any office he wants.

The members of the senior class of High School hold a Longfellow memorial entertainment. Among those taking part were Roger Knox, Edna R. Johnson, Robert G. Paul, Gertrude G. Bishop, Aloysius Coll, Myrtle Whiteley, Mabel Stillwagon, Edith Hyatt, Emma Hood, May Trainer, Victoria Baley and Dewall Hicks.

The Mount Pleasant Journal says:

"Dr. H. H. Sherrick of this place drove to Mount Pleasant in 39 minutes."

The distance is 19 miles.

Mondays big snow storm blocked all traffic on the electric street railway. Cars could not be run until Wednesday.

Alex Ennis is the proud father of a new baby boy. Alex says he will be reared according to the doctrines of his new political faith, Democracy and the Wilson bill.

The four newly elected members of Town Council, Buttermore, Haddock, Bolson and Stahl, will be sworn in on Monday by Burgess Kurtz.

Three deaths in Dunbar township from effects of virulent smallpox, which threatens to become epidemic. Postmaster Collins notified by department that Connellsville will begin an extra mail carrier beginning March 1. This will make six.

Agitation for equitable assessments has been renewed. The commissioners inform the Connellsville assessors that they should impose actual cash value on all properties.

Tyrone coke works of Laughlin & Co. is the first plant in the region to be abandoned because the coal has been exhausted.

Coroner A. S. Hagan's fees for the Duquesne Limited wreck amounts to nearly $400.

E. W. Wright, one of the members of the newly incorporated Wright-Metzler Company, investigated the quarters of the new store.

Mine Inspector Herford Callaghan reports an average of 8,211,314 tons of coke for the Ninth district in 1913.

ICE COVERING ON FIELDS IS BAD FOR THE GRASS CROPS

Farmers Do Not Feel Happy
Over the Weather of This Week.

FINE PROSPECTS ARE IN DANGER

Heavy Blanks of Snow Were as Good as Fertilizer, But Ice May Ruin the Clover, Say Agriculturists. Other News of Connellsville.

Special to The Courier

SCOTTSDALE, March 3.—There are some that believe that the Groundhog is going too far in maintaining his reputation as a weather prophet and point to the last few days as proof of their contention. Among them are the farmers who have spent a pretty winter in thawing out pumps setting never-slip rails on the horses' footwear, and indulging in other charter building practices. But one of the things that has taken much of the zest out of the farmer's life during the last few days was the ice-locked fields that have been so much to the view. Up until this time the prospects for wheat, clover and alfalfa were simply grand, for the heavy blankets of snow cover the fields were as good as fertilizer. The melting weather followed by the blizzard of Sunday from the fields nearly solid and the effect of the ice will be particularly bad for the clover, for it is in the troughs of the ground by this time, and bids fair to reproduce the conditions of three years ago, the farmer says when the clover crop failed.

TEN APPLICANTS

The first meeting of the trustees of the Northern Pension Fund for the purpose of organization will be held in the U.S. Temple, Jeannette, on Thursday evening at 10 o'clock. There have been 10 applications for pensions under this act filed for Jeannette.

UNION MEETINGS

The second week of the union evangelistic services opened Tuesday evening with the Methodist Church added to the Presbyterian Church as a meeting place and the wisdom of this union was apparent for the people who filled each place of worship.

Dr. J. L. Bunk preached at the Presbyterian Church and Rev. J. E. Hutchinson at the Methodist Church. The choir which had been trained by Jack Lewis was divided and that part at the Methodist Church was led by R. H. Tuckwell. The singing at both churches was very enjoyable. The personal workers of District No. 3 those on the job outside of the church, held a meeting in the evening after the regular services. They are the first of three groups to meet. A shop meeting was held at the pipe mill at noon to day and will be held on Friday, and on Thursday at noon there will be a meeting at the drug store at Everett. Services begin at 7:30 at night with a work service to open the new year.

Could Not Go On Street Without Vile
Tells What Remedy Did For Her.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1912.—"In December 1908 my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no relief. The face was very red and the complexion had the appearance of small boils, which itched me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description."

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Remedial a trial. ANAEIMIC ICE CHILDHOOD

How Mrs. Holmes Regained Her Health.

If you are anemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face—colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation and short breath, and more serious disease easily contracted.

Take Vinol oil for Miss Yvonne Holmes of Tall River, Mass. It will do for every anemic run-down person. She says: "I have been weak and anemic since childhood, always had that tired feeling." Tonie after tonie was tried with little or no result until Vinol was recommended, and after taking three bottles, my appetite and digestion have been improved. I do not suffer any more from insomnia, nor do I have distressing headaches as formerly, and I am stronger than I have been for years."

We ask every anemic or run-down weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Graham & Co. druggists, Connellsville, Vinol is sold in West Side by Fred H. Hartmening druggist.

ACK OF HER, WRANDALLS; BEHIND HER,
WRANDALLS; beneath her, friends of the WRANDALLS, outside, the rabble, those who would join with these black swallow-like specters in tearing her to pieces if they but knew!

The drowning voice came up from below, each well-thrown word distinct and clear: tribute beautiful to the irreproachable character of the deceased. Leslie watched the face of the girl, curiously fascinated by the set, emotionless features, and yet without a conscious interest in her. He was fully sensible to the fact that she was beautiful, uncommonly beautiful. It did not occur to him to feel that she was out of place among them, that she belonged down stairs. Somehow she was a part of the surroundings like the specter at the feast.

He could have witnessed all that transpired while Sara was in the room below with her guest—her companion, as he had come to regard her without baying in fact been told so much—he would have been lost in a mass of the most overwhelming emotions.

To go back. The door had barely closed behind the two women when Hetty's trembling knees gave way beneath her. With a low moan of horror, she slipped to the floor, covering her face with her hands.

CHAPTER V.

Discussing a Sister-in-Law.

"You remember my sister-in-law, don't you, Brandy?" was the question that Leslie Wrondall put to a friend one afternoon, as they sat drearily in a window of one of the fashionable uptown clubs, a little more than a year after the events described in the foregoing chapter. Drearily, I have said, for the reason that it was Sunday, and raining at that.

"I met Mrs. Wrondall a few years ago in Rome," said his companion, renewing interest in a conversation that had died some time before of its own exhaustion. "She's most attractive. I saw her but once. I think it was at somebody's feet."

"She's returning to New York the end of the month," said Leslie. "Been abroad for over a year. She had a villa at Nice this winter."

"I remember her quite well. I was of age then to be particularly sensitive to female loveliness. If I'd been staying on in Rome, I should have screwed up the courage, I'm sure, to have asked her to sit for me."

"She waited a long time, her hand on the girl's shoulder. At last Hetty arose.

"You are right," she said hoarsely. "I should not be afraid."

Later on they sat over against the wall beyond the casket, into which they had peered with widely varying emotions. Sara had said:

You know that I loved him."

The girl put her hands to her eyes and buried her head.

"How can you be so merciful to him?"

"Because he was not," said Sara. white-lipped Hetty glances at the girl's shoulder.

COMING WONT RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Lastest and Best Way is To Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid aron; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to molten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and dizzing of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid aron at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

IS IT YOUR KIDNEYS?

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it's only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorder. This is where the doctor often fails. You should realize that these troubles often lead to dropsy or Bright's disease. An effective remedy for weak or diseased kidneys is Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills. Patients of this firm are constantly testifying.

Mr. P. D. Dunn, Mount Sterling, says: "I had pains in the small of my back and failing strength, and for lifting Mr. back was lame in the morning. Sometimes I had dizzy spells and my sight blurred. The kidney secretion contained sediment. I had to set up at night. I used Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills and they helped me greatly."

Price 50¢ at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Duval had. Foster, Millburn Co., Proprietary, N. Y.—Adv.
